Answer key 55

1 Can I use the future after when or if?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a When she starts her new job she'll get a company car.
b When she'll start her new job she'll get a company car.
2 a If you miss the train you'll have to take a taxi.
b If you will miss the train you'll have to take a taxi.

If and when can link two parts of a sentence.

We often use the present simple directly after these words, even though we are talking about the future:
When I retire, I'll travel round the world.

The same thing happens when we use before, after, until, by the time and as soon as:

I'll phone you as soon as I arrive.

By the time we get home, it will be dark.

We can use will after when if we use when as a question word:

When will I see you again?

2 Correct the mistake below.

I surprised her exams!

3 Complete the sentences below using the correct form of the verbs.

- 1 If you treat (treat) her so unfairly she'll walk out of the job.
- 2 Could you phone me when (you / have) the results of the test?
- 3 By the time they (arrive) the match will be over.
- 4 If Kathy (get) in touch next week, I'll let you know.
- 5 Let's go out for a drink after we (finish) these accounts.
- 6 I don't like unexpected visitors, so I hope she rings before she (arrive)!
- 7 You can't drive a car in England until you (be) seventeen.
- 8 You (have to / retake) the exam if you (fail) it.

2 How do I use present tenses to talk about the future?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a Sara won't be able to come; she's going skiing next weekend.
b Sara won't be able to come; she'll go skiing next weekend.
- 2 a Can you tell me what time the next train leaves?
b Can you tell me what time the next train will leave?

Several different future forms are possible, but in general we most commonly use the present continuous to talk about an arrangement:

I'm taking my exam tomorrow!

We use will for instant reactions, predictions and promises:

That's the doorbell! I'll get it!

Compare:

I'll probably stay in tomorrow night. (I've got no arranged plans)

I'm playing squash tomorrow night. (I've already arranged it)

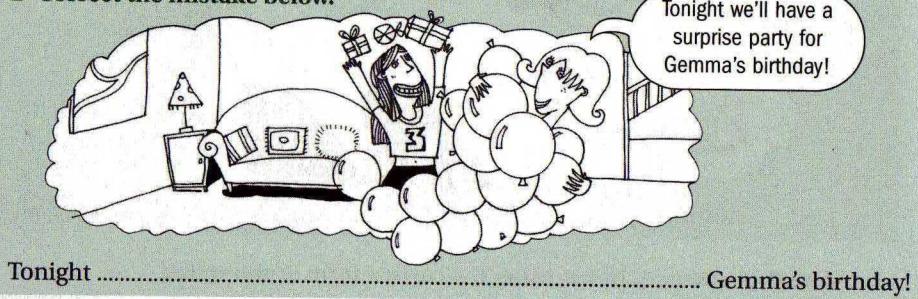

We use the present simple for future timetabled events.

Compare:

The plane leaves at 8 am. (timetabled event)

I'm leaving the house at 5.30 am. (personal arrangement)

2 Correct the mistake below.

3 Complete the sentences below using the correct form of the verbs.

- 1 The conference starts (start) at 9 am, so we'll have to set off early.
- 2 It's very gloomy weather; I think I stay (stay) indoors today.
- 3 The only direct flight leave (leave) at 5 am, which means an early start.
- 4 Sorry I'm late. I promise it happen (happen) again!
- 5 'Have you heard from Luca recently?' 'He get married (get married) next month.'
- 6 Gwen and Tom go (go) to Mauritius for their honeymoon.
- 7 There's no hurry, the film not / start (not / start) until 9 pm.
- 8 I normally leave work early on Friday, but this Friday I work (work) late.

3 How do I form indirect questions?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a Can you tell me where is the bank?
b Can you tell me where the bank is?
- 2 a He asked me what does 'kitsch' mean?
b He asked me what 'kitsch' means.

When we use a phrase like do you know, can you tell me, etc. in front of a question, the word order is inverted:

What does 'enigmatic' mean? → Do you know what 'enigmatic' means?

Where's the exam hall? → Can you tell me where the exam hall is?

When we report a question to someone else the same change in word order happens:

What's the time? → He asked me what the time was.

★ Don't forget that in reported speech the verb goes back a tense.

2 Correct the mistake below.

3 Complete the sentences using the words in brackets.

- 1 Could you tell me what time the next train is (what time / next / train)?
- 2 I don't know (where / cinema).
- 3 Could you tell me (you come home / late / tonight)?
- 4 They wondered (whether / film / start).
- 5 Have you any idea (how / I get to / Oxford Street)?
- 6 She asked me (I know / Ellen).
- 7 I asked her (what / want / birthday).
- 8 He wanted to know (when / her birthday).

TEST

TEST 1

1 Underline the most suitable tense.

- 1 When I go / will go on holiday, I'll send you a postcard.
- 2 She asked me where could she learn / she could learn Arabic.
- 3 If you will get / get this new job, will you get a pay rise?
- 4 When does the course finish / is the course finishing?
- 5 I go / am going to Oxford next week.
- 6 The plane will arrive / arrives at 7 pm so we should make the connection.
- 7 Ring me as soon as you get / you'll get here.
- 8 Annie comes / is coming over this weekend.

2 Look at Emma's diary and complete the conversations using the correct form of the verbs in the box.

be	be
do	do
go	go
go	go
finish	leave
leave	meet
play	take

May

 Jamie: What time (11) (you)?
 Emma: Very early. The plane (12) at 7 am.
 Jamie: (13) (you) to the airport by train?
 Emma: I haven't thought about that yet. I think I (14) a taxi.

3 Emma rings the travel agent to ask some questions. Look at the advert and her notes, then complete her questions.

Tourwise Travel

Weekend in Naples

- Evening/morning flights
- Choice of 3* hotels
- Conveniently situated
- Day trips to Capri

- 1 How many nights is it?
- 2 Are the trips included in the price?
- 3 Do all rooms have showers?
- 4 How far is it from the station?
- 5 Can we visit Pompeii?

- 1 Could you tell me ?
- 2 Do you know ?
- 3 Have you any idea ?
- 4 Do you have any idea ?
- 5 Can you tell me ?

4 Emma is back from holiday. Complete her friends' questions using the words in brackets. Use between two and five words.

- 1 'Is your Italian better now?' asked Peter. (her) Peter asked Emma if
- 2 'What is Capri like?' asked Mariam. (was) Mariam asked Emma like.
- 3 'Do you have a suntan?' asked Anne. (had)
 Anne asked Emma a suntan.
- 4 'What do you think of Italian food?' asked Glenn. (thought) Glenn asked Anne Italian food.
- 5 'Do you want to visit Italy again?' asked Julia. (wanted)
 Julia wondered if Emma again.

5 Are these sentences right or wrong? Correct those which are wrong.

- 1 When will you get back from Italy?
- 2 I'm not sure where is the exhibition.
- 3 They asked me if my sister still lived in New York.
- 4 I'll have a shower as soon as I'll get home.
- 5 He wondered what did I do in my spare time.
- 6 Excuse me! Could you tell me where is the town hall?
- 7 She asked me why I was so late.
- 8 As soon as you'll come we'll have lunch.

4 Have or have got?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a I'd got a terrible headache all day yesterday.
b I had a terrible headache all day yesterday.
- 2 a I hope you have fun on the sailing course next week.
b I hope you have got fun on the sailing course next week.

We can use either have or have got to talk about owning or possessing something, or to describe personal characteristics:

She's got a bad temper. = She has a bad temper.

We have a new car. = We've got a new car.

We use have, not have got, to talk about actions or experiences in expressions such as have lunch, have a bath, have difficulty, have fun, have an accident, have a holiday, etc. We don't usually use have got in the past or the future.

I usually have fun when I see Marcus. (Not I usually have got fun ...)

I had a pet rabbit when I was young. (Not Had got a pet rabbit ...)

2 Correct the mistake below.

3 Complete the sentences with the correct form of have or have got.

- 1 Did you have (you) a good holiday last week?
- 2 What time (she / usually) lunch?
- 3 Mahmoud his own business in London, but he's hardly ever there.
- 4 I'll have to do some overtime. I any money at the moment.
- 5 He can't walk very well at the moment, he an accident last week.
- 6 My sister very long hair when she was young.
- 7 Her new boyfriend a very good sense of humour. He never gets a joke.
- 8 'The reception on this line's not very good, what are you doing?'
'I a bath!'

5 When do I use the present perfect?

1 Tick the best sentence in each pair.

- 1 a That writer won a prize last year for his new novel.
b That writer's won a prize last year for his new novel.
- 2 a Regina's been a secretary since 1999; even though she finds it very dull.
b Regina is a secretary since 1999; even though she finds it very dull.

We use the present perfect:

- to talk about events that are relevant now or happened recently:
Where's my mobile? It's disappeared!
- to refer to something that happened at some time in our lives, when the time is not important and not stated:
I've met one of South America's most famous writers.
- to talk about something that started in the past and continues now (often with for or since to show how long):
I've worked in London for five years. (I work there now.)
I've lived in that flat since 1998. (I live there now.)
(not I live in that flat since 1998.)

We use the past simple to talk about events in the past or if we refer to a finished time:

I worked in London for five years but now I work in Sydney.

2 Correct the mistake below.

3 Are these sentences right or wrong? Correct those which are wrong.

- 1 It's our anniversary. We are married for ten years. We have been married
- 2 This is the fourth time I've called but there's still no reply.
- 3 There's no milk left; someone's drunk it all.
- 4 I have worked as a translator when I lived in Spain.
- 5 Where's John? I haven't seen him since ages.
- 6 I never ate Japanese food before, so I'd be curious to try it.
- 7 How many times did you turn up late for work last month?
- 8 How many plays has Shakespeare written?

6

When do I use the past perfect?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a Sarah looked different because she had lost weight.
b Sarah looked different because she lost weight.
- 2 a I'd worked for five years by the time I started college last year.
b I'd worked for five years by the time I'd started college last year.

We use the past perfect when we talk about the past and we want to refer to something that happened before this:

By the time the fire brigade arrived, the building had burnt down.

The dog ran down the street. It had jumped out of the car.

★ Notice how we often use the past perfect and the past simple together.

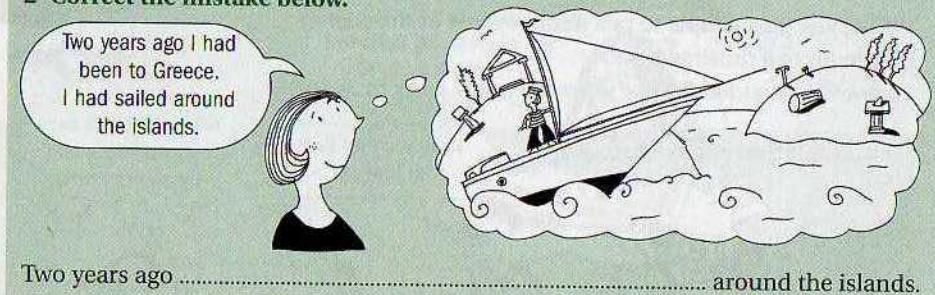

We often use the past perfect after a reporting verb in the past:

David asked me if Sarah had lost weight.

We often use the past perfect when we talk about past events out of sequence. To talk about events in the same order as they happened, we use the past simple:

The dog jumped out of the car. It ran down the street. (after jumping out of the car)

2 Correct the mistake below.

3 Complete the sentences using the correct form of the verbs.

- 1 She asked me if I had seen (see) her cat.
- 2 When Paul started university he (never live) away from home before.
- 3 There's no point in going now! We (miss) the start of the film.
- 4 We arrived at the party at midnight, but most people (leave) by then.
- 5 I was held up at work, so by the time I (arrive), they (stop) serving hot food.
- 6 Typical! Just as I got into the bath the telephone (ring)!
- 7 When she got home she (realise) she (forget) her keys.
- 8 Why didn't you tell me you (change) your telephone number?

TEST

3 Fill in the gaps using the appropriate tense.

A surprise too far

When I (1) (leave) college in Dublin in 1980, I (2) (go) to Madrid to work for a large manufacturing company. I (3) (never / work) abroad before and I (4) (not / know) anyone in Madrid, so I (5) (find) it a bit lonely at first. One weekend I (6) (decide) to get a 'last minute' flight to Dublin for a surprise visit to my boyfriend. When I (7) (arrive) at Dublin airport I (8) (phone) him but he (9) (not be) at home. His flatmate (10) (tell) me that he (11) (go) away for the whole weekend. I (12) (feel) so disappointed. I (13) (not tell) him that I was coming because I wanted it to be a surprise. I (14) (stay) the weekend then (15) (go) back to Madrid on Monday morning. When I got to my flat I (16) (find) a note under the door. It was from my boyfriend. He (17) (come) to Madrid at the weekend to visit me as a surprise! By the time I (18) (get) the note he (19) (fly) back to Dublin.

4 Underline the correct tense.

- 1 Of course I can't go out! I broke / 've broken my leg.
- 2 Despite the bad reviews, I think it's the best show I'd / 've ever seen.
- 3 Katri's waited / waited outside for two hours until her boyfriend arrived.
- 4 In your advertisement, you had stated / stated that all the rooms have showers.
- 5 Two years ago my sister and I had gone / went on a package holiday to Spain. It was a complete disaster! We had a terrible time.
- 6 The course started / has started two weeks ago, so you should be able to catch up easily.
- 7 He's an old friend. I know / 've known him for ages.
- 8 Yesterday morning I've been / went to enrol on a computing course.

Must or have to?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a I must to go to an interview tomorrow.
b I have to go to an interview tomorrow.
- 2 a Fiona fractured her wrist and had to go to hospital last week.
b Fiona fractured her wrist and must go to hospital last week.

We use have to / must + infinitive to say it is necessary to do something:

I must go to the hairdresser.

I have to go to school.

Must is only used in the present. We use forms of have to for all other tenses:

The last train was at midnight, so he had to leave early.

We've missed the bus so we'll have to walk.

We often use have to for rules or things that other people think are necessary:

I have to lose weight. (the doctor told me to)

We often use must when the sense of obligation comes from the speaker:

I must go to the doctor. (I don't feel well)

2 Correct the mistake below.

I exercise.

3 Complete the sentences with the correct form of must or have to. Use one word only.

- 1 If you want to go away next month, you'll have to start saving money.
- 2 I'm exhausted! I to work every weekend last month.
- 3 I haven't seen you for ages! We meet up soon.
- 4 I can't stand to wait in long queues at the bank.
- 5 Fire regulations say you leave the building immediately if you hear the fire alarm.
- 6 We to buy the ticket before we get on the train.
- 7 She's to cut down on her expenses since she lost her job last month.
- 8 We don't have a spare room, so you'll to share this one.

8

Mustn't or don't have to?1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a The performance starts at 8 pm so we don't have to be late.
b The performance starts at 8 pm so we mustn't be late.
- 2 a You mustn't tell anyone because it's a secret.
b You don't have to tell anyone because it's a secret.

Mustn't is used to say that something is not allowed:

You mustn't smoke in here. (it's not allowed)

We mustn't shout. (the baby is asleep, we'll wake her up)

Don't have to is used to say that it is not necessary to do something:

I'm on holiday! I don't have to work for two weeks.

We don't have to whisper. (there's no one else here)

2 Correct the mistake below.

It's Sunday. I get up.

3 Underline the correct words.

- 1 We don't have to / mustn't pay to get in. It's free.
- 2 Be quiet! You mustn't / don't have to talk in the library.
- 3 We mustn't / don't have to forget our tickets for the train, or we'll have to pay a fine.
- 4 You mustn't / don't have to wear a uniform. You can wear whatever you like.
- 5 Tell Ahmed he mustn't / doesn't have to argue with his boss again, or he'll get the sack.
- 6 You don't have to / mustn't tidy your room. I tidied it this morning.
- 7 I mustn't / don't have to leave early. If I miss my bus I can walk home.
- 8 We mustn't / don't have to be late. They lock the doors after midnight.

9

Can, could, couldn't or be able to?1 Tick the best sentence in each pair.

- 1 a Eventually I could make her change her mind.
b Eventually I was able to make her change her mind.
- 2 a I'm worried that if I lose my job, I can't find another one.
b I'm worried that if I lose my job, I won't be able to find another one.

To say someone has the ability or possibility to do something in general, we usually use can (for the present) or could (for the past):

I could run 10 miles a day when I was young.

We can use be able to for all tenses:

I will be able to run 10 miles a day if I practise enough.

To refer to a particular past situation, we use was / were able to. We don't use could (but couldn't is possible):

Even though the restaurant was crowded we were able to find a table. (not could find)
We weren't able to / couldn't find a table because the restaurant was too crowded.

We use can or could to ask for permission to do something, but not be able to:

Can I ask you a quick question?

2 Correct the mistake below.

Am I able to borrow your suntan oil, please?

..... your suntan oil, please?

3 Are these sentences right or wrong? Correct those which are wrong.

- 1 Do you think I'm able to have a quick look at your newspaper? could
- 2 She couldn't find the suit you wanted.
- 3 When we went to Paris last month we could visit our mother.
- 4 My brother can't find a job since last May.
- 5 Am I able to close the window?
- 6 If you go to the sales next week you are probably able to pick up a bargain.
.....
- 7 I could play the piano when I was a child.
- 8 Unless you save some money, you can't afford the latest computer.

Say or tell?

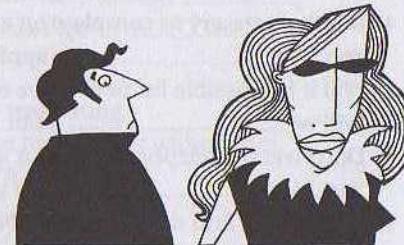

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a I invited Miriam but she said she was busy.
b I invited Miriam but she said me she was busy.
- 2 a She left without telling where she was going.
b She left without telling me where she was going.

Tell is always followed by a direct personal object. We tell someone something:

I'm a film star.

She told me she was a film star.

Say is not followed by a direct personal object. We say something:

She said she was a film star.

If we use a personal object with say, we must use to. We say something to someone:
She said to me that she was a film star.

There are a few expressions where we can use tell without a personal object:

tell a lie; tell the truth; tell a joke; tell a story; tell the time

2 Correct the mistake below.

3 Complete the sentences using say or tell.

- 1 She said to me that she'd just been made redundant.

b Keeping fit isn't easy unless you do an effort
- 2 a Ahmed said he'd like to do a course in Excel.
b Ahmed said he'd like to make a course in Excel.

As a general rule, if we talk about jobs and work, we use do:

I do the shopping, the washing up, the housework, and I do a full-time job!

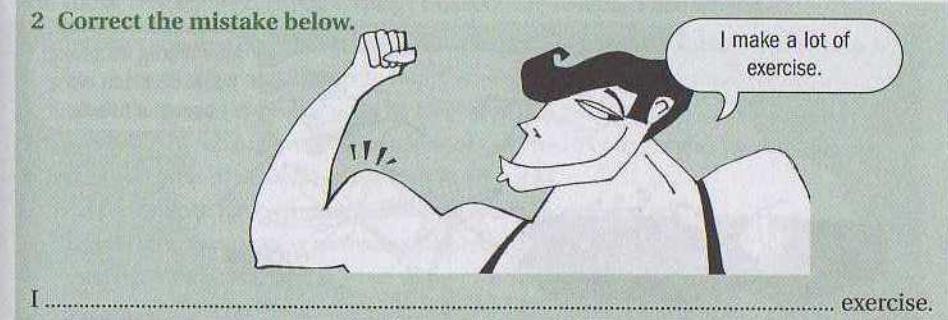

If we talk about creating or building something we use make:
I made that!

Common expressions using make and do:

make an appointment, the bed, a decision, an effort, an excuse, friends, fun of someone, a fuss, a mess, money, a noise, a phone call, a photocopy, a plan, progress, a promise, a suggestion, a trip

b 'We've got a new teacher.' 'Oh, how is she?'
- 2 a 'What do you want to eat?' 'I'll have the same like you.'
b 'What do you want to eat?' 'I'll have the same as you.'

We use like:

- to ask for descriptions or information about something or someone:
'What's she like?' 'She's very kind and patient.'
- to say that something is similar or the same:
She looks like Marilyn Monroe.
- to give an example:
Some names, like Pat or Alex, can be used for boys and girls.

We use as:

- to make comparisons:
He's not as tall as his brother.
- to describe a job or role:
She's working as a web designer at the moment. (she is a web designer)

Compare:

I work as a psychologist. (I am a psychologist)

Like a teacher, I work with all sorts of people. (my job is similar to a teacher's job)

Which common nouns are uncountable?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a He gave me a good advice about travelling round Egypt.
 b He gave me some good advice about travelling round Egypt.
- 2 a I would like an information about the latest laptop.
 b I would like some information about the latest laptop.

If a noun is uncountable, it has no plural form, and we cannot use it with a / an:

Where can I put all this stuff?

He bought new furniture for his flat.

Information is easy to find on the Internet.

Other common uncountable nouns include the following:

accommodation, advice, damage, equipment, luggage, knowledge, news, research, scenery, software, stuff, transport, work, weather

We can use some with uncountable nouns. To refer to a specific amount we can use words such as a piece of or a bit of in front of an uncountable noun:

a piece of equipment, a bit of advice

★ Some nouns can be both countable and uncountable, with different meanings:

I had a few bad experiences on holiday last year. (countable)

 b He plays in a band but he's not very good at singing.
- 2 a They mended the television and now it works as well as before.
 b They mended the television and now it works as good as before.

Good is an adjective and goes before the verb. Well is an adverb and comes after the verb. Compare:

Isabel Allende is a good writer.

She writes well.

He's a good artist.

He paints well.

We can sometimes use well as an adjective to mean 'in good health':

I'm not very well.

We use well with a past participle for some expressions:

He's very well dressed.

She's very well known.

2 Correct the mistake below.

When do I use an apostrophe?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a The hotel is quite small. Its maximum capacity is 40 guests.
 b The hotel is quite small. It's maximum capacity is 40 guests.
- 2 a Whose books are these?
 b Who's books are these?

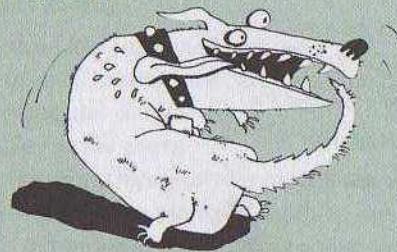

We use an apostrophe:

- when we contract two words. The apostrophe goes in place of the omitted letters:
they've = they have; it's = it is or it has; who's = who is or who has
- to show the possessive. We use -'s with singular nouns, irregular plurals and names:
the man's umbrella; the children's school; Sonia's book
- For regular plural nouns that end in -s we put the apostrophe after the -s:
I can never remember my students' names.

We don't use an apostrophe:

- with possessive forms such as its, hers, his, and whose:
The cat ate its food.
- when we add s to a singular noun to make it a plural:
drinks

2 Correct the mistake below.

The dog's chasing its tail.

The tail.

3 Add an apostrophe where necessary.

When do I use a capital letter and a comma?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a He's a Buddhist monk from Thailand.
 b He's a buddhist monk from thailand.
- 2 a He's the new managing director.
 b He's the new Managing Director.

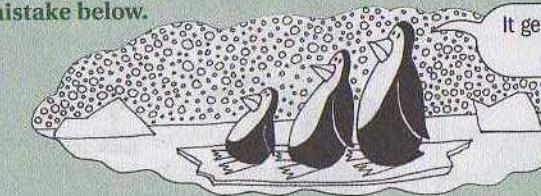

We use a capital letter:

- for languages and nationalities:
French, Spanish
- For days and months, but not seasons: • For religions, festivals and holy days:
Monday, June, (but summer) Islam, Christmas, Easter
- For names or titles of people, places and things:
Nelson Mandela, Edinburgh University

We use a comma:

- to separate words in a list (the final comma is optional):
maths, chemistry, physics(), and biology
- to separate long clauses in a sentence, particularly before but, and, yet, while and or:
I haven't found a dance class yet, but I'll carry on looking for a while.

What are some common spelling mistakes?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a It was very embarrassing when I called him by the wrong name.
b It was very embarassing when I called him by the wrong name.
- 2 a I'm wrtting with reference to your advertisement.
b I'm writing with reference to your advertisement.

When a word ends in one vowel and one consonant, we usually double the final consonant before an -ing, -ed, -er and -est ending:

shop → shopping run → running big → bigger

For words with two or more syllables, in British English we double the final consonant if the final syllable is stressed, or if the word ends in -l:

prefer → preferred travel → travelled, travelling

★ Note that American English retains the single consonant:

prefered, traveling

Be careful not to add an extra -l onto adjectives ending -ful: beautiful, useful, etc.

In British English, practise is the verb and practice is the noun. These words are frequently misspelt:

accommodation, advertisement, because, beginning, bicycle, centre, comfortable, definitely, different, disappointing, environment, grateful, really, which

2 Correct the mistake below.

3 Underline the correct spelling of the words in italics.

Most people believe that the pyramids in Egypt were built as tombs for the Pharaohs but there are also a number of other theories. Some people believe that the Great Pyramid was used to calculate the future and that it's already correctly predicted the First world War. Other people believe its use was that of a giant calendar to measure the length of the year.

Each pyramid took roughly five years' to build. There are over 90 pyramids in egypt, but it's unlikely we'll ever find out what the Ancient Egyptians really used them for.

Actress Alecca White remembers her schooldays

When I was at school I was always getting into trouble. One day I remember I was sitting in the library feeling (1) when my friend Sarah came up to me. 'Are you (2) in having a little (3)?' she asked. I agreed immediately. We tiptoed to a corner of the library where there was a wet sponge in the cleaner's bucket, and we balanced it on top of the door.

As our teacher walked in, it fell at her feet. She looked so (4)! She shouted at us in front of everyone. It was very (5) 'Sarah and Alecca!' she shouted, 'I'm very (6) in you both!' She was very (7) for the rest of the afternoon. We were both given a detention, but it had certainly livened up a (8) day at school!

5 Are these sentences right or wrong? Correct those which are wrong.

- 1 We decided to take first class tickets for the journey.
- 2 The travel on the train was very relaxing.
- 3 I always get boring in his classes.
- 4 I can drop off those CDs on my way back home.

- 7 I have to do a lot of travel for work.
- 8 Going to an amusement park can be funny for all the family.

22

Hope or wish?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a The show was so funny. I wish you would be there.
 b The show was so funny. I wish you had been there.
- 2 a I hope you enjoyed your stay with us.
 b I wish you enjoyed your stay with us.

We use hope and wish to say how we would like things to be.

We use hope for something we think is possible:

I hope we can see you soon. (we might see you)

We use wish + past tense for something which is unlikely / impossible:

I wish we could come to London again. (we can't come)

We use wish + past perfect when we express regret for something that happened in the past:

I wish I had seen the job advert. (I didn't see the job advert)

We use wish + would to say we don't like someone's current behaviour, and that we would like them to act differently:

I wish you would let me know what you're thinking! (you don't let me know)

2 Correct the mistake below.

- 8 She left work half an hour ago so I (she / arrive) in time for the performance.

23

How do I express an opinion?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a The plan has some benefits but on the other side it has some problems.
 b The plan has some benefits but on the other hand it has some problems.
- 2 a In my opinion, buying an investment property can be risky.
 b According to me buying an investment property can be risky.

Use on the one hand ... on the other hand to introduce two different points of view:
On the one hand, cycling to work is good exercise. On the other hand, you breathe in a lot of fumes, which is bad for you.

To say the exact opposite of something is true, we use on the contrary:
Tea is not necessarily bad for you. On the contrary, it can be good for you.

To say what we think, we use in my opinion:
In my opinion, we shouldn't pay tax on clothes.

To state someone else's opinion, we can use according to:
According to John, nurses don't earn enough money.

Firstly and first of all are used to introduce our first point:
Firstly, I will explain my theory on the use of acupuncture to cure back pain.

At first describes the beginning of a situation, often with but if the situation changes:
At first, I didn't like her, but now I think she's quite nice.

25 Still, yet or already?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a Jon's only just bought his new car and he's still bored with it.
b Jon's only just bought his new car and he's already bored with it.
- 2 a It's very late. Hasn't the film finished yet?
b It's very late. Hasn't the film finished already?

Still means something is continuing, usually later than expected:
Are you still asleep? It's 3 pm!

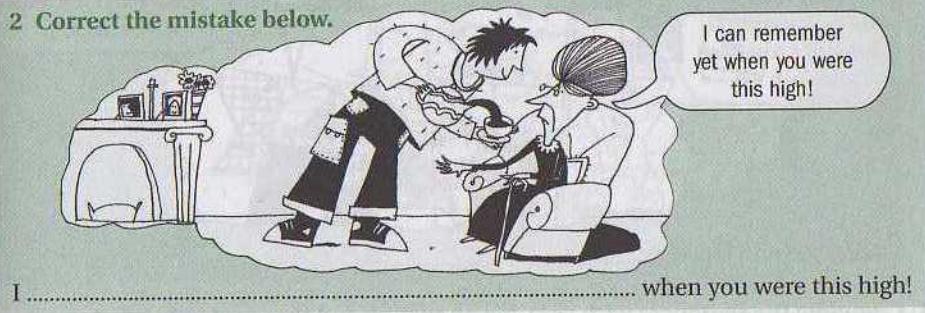

Already means something has happened sooner than expected:
Nadine has already left. She didn't want to wait for you.

Still and already go in the middle of the sentence. With one-word verbs, they go before the main verb, but after be. With multi-word verbs, they go after the first auxiliary verb:
I still find this map confusing. I'm already lost!
I've already been seen by the doctor. I'm still feeling ill.

If there is a negative verb, it goes after still but before already:
I still haven't seen that film. I hope you haven't already seen it.

Yet means we expect something to happen. It is used with questions and negatives, and goes at the end of a sentence:
He hasn't woken up yet.

2 Correct the mistake below.

1 when you were this high!

3 Add still, yet or already to the sentences in italics.

- 1 You don't need to do the washing up. I've done it. ... I've already done it.

- 7 He was paid three days ago. He's spent it!
- 8 My phone has been out of order for weeks! No one's fixed it.

26

Very, too or enough?

1 Tick the correct sentence in each pair.

- 1 a Tony's too nice, so you're bound to get on with him.
b Tony's very nice, so you're bound to get on with him.
- 2 a The food looks delicious but I don't want to break my diet.
b The food looks very delicious but I don't want to break my diet.

Very means 'a lot' or 'extremely'. It goes in front of adjectives and adverbs:

I was very surprised to hear that Harry's getting married.

We don't use very with strong adjectives such as astonished, awful, enormous, etc.:
I was astonished to hear that Harry's getting married.

Too means 'more than necessary'. It goes in front of adjectives and adverbs:

These shoes are too big!

We often say too ... to do something. Compare:

John was too tired to come along with us to the party. (he didn't come)

Hania was very tired but she came to the party.

Enough means 'sufficient'. It usually goes before a noun but after an adjective:

I can't get in the car, there's not enough room.

That suitcase is not big enough for everything I'm taking.

2 Correct the mistake below.

Don't worry! The exam !

3 Complete the sentences with very, too or enough and the word in brackets.

- 1 a Most of people know about email these days.
b Most people know about email these days.
- 2 a The amount of holiday you get depends of your employer.
b The amount of holiday you get depends on your employer.

We use of in expressions such as:

- to be fond of: I'm very fond of cats.
- to have experience of: I have no experience of sailing.
- in spite of: She managed to get to sleep in spite of the noise.

We don't use of:

- after despite: Despite the rain we still went on the picnic.
- between most + noun, when most is followed directly by the noun. Compare:
Most restaurants in London are expensive.
Most of the restaurants I went to were very good.

We use on in expressions such as:

- to depend on someone / something: Jim depends on me.
- to be keen on someone / something: I'm keen on fishing.

We don't use on before last / next: She starts school next Monday.
